PLATTE INSTITUTE
RELEASES LATEST STUDY:
"THE PROGNOSIS FOR NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE:
A NEBRASKA PERSPECTIVE"

The Platte Institute is pleased to release this timely report which is authored by the nationally-renowned Arduin, Laffer & Moore Econometrics.

While there has been plenty of talk about the national implications of health care reform, this is the first report that puts hard numbers in place about the specific ramifications for Nebraska. Among the findings are:

- Health care reform based on President Obama's priorities will come with a pricetag of $4,273 for every person in Nebraska.
- Health care reform based on President Obama's priorities will reduce economic growth in Nebraska by 3.7 percent.
